Novelties

This year's novelties are often next year's most popular varieties, and perhaps "indispensables" of the future. Be among the first to grow some, or all, of these new flower seed introductions.

ARCTOTIS scapigera hybrids bring shades of cream, yellow, orange, copper, bronze, brown, red, and lavender, in this large-flowered long-stemmed African Daisy. It is a biennial, flowering the first season. Pkts., 20c.

GAILLARDIA Burgundy, a perennial blooming the first year if sown by March, with large, rich crimson flowers on long, stiff stems. Pkts., 25c.

NASTURTIUM Bodgeri, "Golden Gleam," double, golden yellow, fragrant flowers, on long stems. The first noteworthy advance in this popular flower for years, it makes of the nasturtium, a splendid cut-flower. Pkts., 20c.

PRIMULA malacoides, True Rose, is the first real rose-pink Baby Primrose without traces of the common lilac coloring; a new color for winter and spring shade. Pkts., 50c.

ZINNIA, Crown O' Gold, so-called because each petal of the flower is overlaid with deep yellow at the base, while carrying the flower-color out to the tip. This yellow base is on the whole range of Zinnia colors, and makes a beautiful effect. Pkts., 25c.

ZINNIA, Scabiosa-flowered, resembles the "Pin-cushion Flower" since the center is a cluster of small flowers, with a single row of petals in a contrasting color, about it. An entirely different type for summer bouquets; Mixed colors. Pkts., 25c.

Other worth-while recent introductions are Aster, California Giant Sunshine; Godetias, Semi-dwarf Double Azalea-flowered; Scabiosa Loveliness, salmon; and Snapdragons, Majestic, with Maximum-sized flowers in the Medium height group. These, with time of sowing, may all be found in the body of the catalogue.
